

Social Story™

Awareness Training

This course is to support professionals (and families) to understand what 'social stories™' are, how to write them using the four-part process and how to support Children Young People who find certain situations / behaviours more difficult to understand and adjust to.

Social stories explain social situations to autistic children and help them learn ways of behaving in these situations. They can sometimes be called social scripts, social narratives or story-based interventions. Social Story™ and Social Stories™ are trademarks originated and owned by Carol Gray.

Social stories can primarily be used for children with developmental delays or autism, they are a useful tool for illustrating complex processes simply and clearly to any child.

There will be time to look at key resources and to spend some time writing one.
